You can create your own Dual Language Program!

Communities of French, Francophone and American parents have had enormous success starting French-English DLPs in their local public schools.

If you are interested in starting a French-English DLP near you please visit www.newyorkinfrench.net or www.efny.net or where you can find a downloadable Roadmap to Creating a Dual Language Program.
Why learn French in a Dual-Language Program?

Over 220 million people in approximately 50 countries around the world speak French. Students who are fluent in French are more competitive for academic and professional opportunities worldwide.

Bilingualism increases mental flexibility for children. Bilinguals will have two or more words for a single object, concept or idea.

Children who study a second language score higher on verbal standardized tests conducted in English. Bilingual children also perform better in math and logic skills than children with just one language.

Learning a second language helps children build self-esteem, creativity, problem-solving skills, and math ability.

Bilingual children maintain a strong sense of their own identity while developing sensitivity towards other people and cultures.

Speaking French is not a requirement for Anglophone parents. The Dual Language Programs in public schools welcome all families interested in the French language—regardless of their own personal experience.

The Brooklyn-Queens Bilingual Group

The Brooklyn-Queens Bilingual Group is comprised of individuals who are eager to promote and to incorporate the French language in NYC public schools. We strongly believe that a bilingual education offers children countless opportunities.

We have observed the enormous success of existing Dual-Language programs in many public schools, now we are joining the bilingual revolution to create similar programs in more schools throughout East Brooklyn and Southeast Queens.
